Blending and bending modern dance with gymnastics, physical comedy, circus skills, and special effects, this dance theatre company's work is entertaining and accessible. The diverse movement backgrounds of ensemble members combine for an edgy and athletic performance, surprising the eye, tickling the funny bone and crossing the boundaries of age, gender, and culture. Both their sources of inspiration—including literature, sculpture, and physics—and the live performance itself reinforce learning objectives in vocabulary, creative thinking, physical education, and even science as the laws of motion, gravity and balance come to life on stage.
